What services are available for Holland College alumni?

Did you know that you can still use Holland College Library Services after you graduate!

Circulation Services

To borrow from our collections, you will need to register at one of our resource centres and present some valid identification. Once registered, you will receive a new borrower card with a 14-digit barcode number. You can use this barcode number to make requests in the online catalogue or to request online renewals of items you have borrowed.

You may borrow up to six items at a time from us, and you may renew your loans up to five times, provided there are no pending requests for the items. However, if you have material a current student or staff member requests, we reserve the right to recall those items before their due date.

Holland College Libraries do not charge late fees for overdue items, but you will be charged for replacement of any materials that are lost or damaged. Library staff may also decline to lend materials to users who are perpetually in debts or do not respect the terms of loan.

Internet access and online databases

Holland College alumni are welcome to use the library public computers for Internet access as well as for searching our subscription research databases. Please check with library staff about logging you in to one of the computers in the library. Due to our license agreements, only currently enrolled Holland College students and staff can access the subscription databases from off-campus or at home.
